PROJECT LOCATION
The Gilman Transit Center is proposed on the north and south sides of Gilman Drive between Myers Drive and Russell Lane where bus stops currently exist.

PROJECT DESCRIPTION
The Gilman Transit Center, a regional hub for the network of buses serving the UC San Diego campus is scheduled for construction this summer. The transit center will provide four new shelters (two SuperLoop bus stations and two campus shuttle stations), bus turnouts to allow buses and shuttles to load passengers more efficiently while keeping vehicle and bicycle traffic moving, larger waiting areas for bus riders, seating, lighting and signage, bike racks and dedicated bike lanes, and open space improvements.

Once completed, the new transit center will continue to serve campus shuttles, Metropolitan Transit System (MTS) bus Routes 30, 41, 150, and 921, MiraMesa Rapid 237 (effective August 31), SuperLoop Routes 201 and 202, and North County Transit District (NCTD) bus Route 101.

The MTS bus stop on the south side of Gilman Drive between Russell Lane and Villa La Jolla Drive will be removed and transit riders will access those Routes 41 and 921 at the transit center.

PROJECT PURPOSE
The Gilman Transit Center is just one component of a larger vision for transportation improvements at UC San Diego. Additional regional transportation projects are coming to UC San Diego that will transform the way we access campus and help our community achieve sustainability goals by reducing greenhouse gas emissions related to vehicle travel. These include a new bridge across Interstate 5 at Gilman Drive to better connect east and west campuses for vehicles, bicycles and pedestrians; the Light Rail Transit (“Trolley”) project with two UC San Diego stations; improvements to Voigt Drive and Campus Point Drive to accommodate future Direct Access Ramps from Interstate 5 for high occupancy vehicles; and a major expansion to the Genesee Avenue bridge and interchange with enhanced bicycle features.

PROJECT COMPLETION
Fall 2014
